Course overview

This Learning Institute will use interactive exercises and case studies to demonstrate how each HealthyPeople.gov interactive tool can strengthen participants' own disease prevention and health promotion efforts.

The HealthyPeople.gov interactive tools help our stakeholders to: 1) Find evidence-based resources and interventions to achieve Healthy People 2020 objectives, 2) Explore and examine demographic data that are critical in program planning, implementation, and evaluation, 3) Bring data to life with infographics and case studies, and 4) Collaborate and share with peers and learn what work others around the country are doing. Presenters will demonstrate how different stakeholder groups can use each of the online tools on HealthyPeople.gov to strengthen grant proposals, develop and evaluate health improvement plans, and improve public health planning and evaluation.

There will be formal and informal sharing of content, skill building and demonstrations, and sufficient time to address questions. Participants are encouraged to bring a laptop computer to most effectively participate in these demonstrations.
